

Vladimir Liberzon, PMP®

R&D Director of Spider Project Team

Founder of Moscow Russia PMI® Chapter

Fellow at The Guild of Project Controls

Graduated from Moscow Institute for Physics and Technology (MIPT), Vladimir worked as the senior researcher at Moscow Central Institute for Complex Automation where in 1978 created his first project management software for mainframe computers that included not only CPM calculations but also advanced resource leveling.

In 1990 he organized Spider Project Team – a group of researches and software developers that created Spider Project software. Today Spider Project is used in 35 countries and for management of all large-scale programs in Russia and Spider Project Team became the leading project management consulting and training company with the branches and partners in many Russian cities and abroad. Spider Project Team is PMI® Global Registered Education Provider. Application areas where projects are managed with the help of Spider Project include Aerospace & Defense, Agriculture, Banking, Energy, Engineering & Construction, Manufacturing, Mining, Oil & Gas, Retail, Shipbuilding, Software Development, Telecommunications.

Vladimir has an experience of managing projects and consulting project management teams in aerospace, construction, energy, oil&gas, telecommunications, retail, shipbuilding and other application areas. His consulting services include organizational development, implementation of the corporate project management systems, planning, scheduling, budgeting, project control, contract management, human resources management and motivation, risk management and other areas associated with proper management of projects, programs, and project portfolios. He is an author of 4 books on project management and more than 150 papers.